Good day,
As you know, a student may take an authorized leave from their studies, but such leave must always be approved by the institution and cannot exceed 150 days. Students in Canada who wish would take a leave longer than 150 days must change their status (I.e, visitor or worker) or leave [redacted] who are overseas and who have not met their previous study permit conditions, should apply for a new study permit with all the proper documentations. Please note that foreign nationals re-entering Canada as study permit holders will be assessed by a border service officer and should have all the necessary documentations in their possessions regarding their studies if asked. Students are responsible to engage with their DLI to ensure that they maintain their active enrolment status and comply with current regulations.
According to the website, if IRCC becomes aware that a student has failed to meet these conditions, they may require the [redacted] to [redacted] the [redacted] applications, and the [redacted] may [redacted] to wait six months before reapplying for a study permit, visitor visa, or work permit. Additionally, if a student is unenrolled (withdrawn) by the Designated Learning Institution (DLI) due to unauthorized leave or other academic reasons, their study permit will become invalid as per R222(1)(a.1).
As a reminder, we kindly ask that enquiries regarding the international Students Program are sent through our designated Representative mailbox IRCC.I[redacted]

I hope this email finds you well.

At [redacted] we prioritize adherence to the rules and regulations set by government authorities such as IRCC. As part of our commitment to compliance, we have implemented an internal policy that allows for the conditional re-enrollment of students who hold valid study permits but have been absent for an extended period, subject to confirmation from IRCC.

Based on his explanation, if the college is allowed to re-enroll him, are there any additional steps you would like us to take before allowing him to attend classes? We would appreciate it if you could provide us with all the necessary steps we need to follow in such cases. This will help us make decisive actions without needing to consult you for each case.
