Good day,

[redacted] Immigration Representatives Mailbox.

Please note that this mailbox is intended for general guidance and does not provide responses to case-specific inquiries but have provided the following information as guidance. If you have case specific questions about a file, you are encouraged to submit the IRCC Web form.

Please see our response to your question.

If the BSO did not stamp the passport, you can only stay in Canada for 6 months from the day you first enter Canada, or until your passport or biometrics expire, whichever comes first.

Please be advised that a foreign national's entry into Canada, is at the discretion of a BSO at a Canadian POE and they have the authority to determine the length of time that a temporary resident may remain in Canada.

This information is publicly available here; Can I stay in Canada until the expiry date on my visitor visa?

We trust that this information will assist you.

Subject: Question regarding visitor status

Dear team,

[redacted]

If a person enters Canada as a visitor (no stamp on the passport and no visitor record), can they stay for 180 days OR 6 months as 6 months may have 182 or 183 days?

[redacted] I [redacted] to hearing from you.

Best Regards,
