Response 1: Students pursuing an academic program that is jointly offered by more than one institution in Canada must ensure that they hold a valid study permit for each respective DLI before they begin studying there.

Response 2: The request for compliance reporting starts in March and [redacted] primary contact at each post-secondary DLI must confirm the student's enrollment and attendance status and will receive an e-mail notification from IRCC when a report must be submitted.

Response 3: Students are permitted to work off-campus if their study permit contains a remark stating that they are allowed to do so.

Response 4: Students that changed DLIs before November 8, 2024, can keep studying at their DLI with their current study permit as long as they still meet their conditions. However, if they want to change DLIs again, they will need to get a new study permit by applying to extent their current one.

[redacted] this [redacted] you [redacted] [redacted] the [redacted] Services [redacted] the . I [redacted] to [redacted] guidance on study permits for a collaborative undergraduate program.

and offer a Bachelor of Nursing program collaboratively. Some facts about the program include:

This is a full-time in-person four-year undergraduate program.

Admissions is done by the

The Letter of Acceptance is issued by the university and includes a note on the collaborative nature of the program.

0 Upon completion of the program, students receive their credential/parchment from the Students complete the first two years of the program at 0 During the terms that students complete at ney are still considered enrolled full time at the . Transcripts show a registration placeholder for each of those terms at the and the transfer credit awarded by term in the transfer credit section of the transcript.

20 Students are registered in courses at during those initial two years and they are issued transcripts with those courses, but they do not receive any kind of credential from .

Due to the collaborative nature of the Bachelor of Nursing program, students pay tuition and fees to for the first two years of the program, and to the for the final two years.

IRCC compliance reporting is currently done by the

The program has work integrated components throughout and a professional preceptorship during the last term. Currently students obtain a co-op work permit that lists the ad the employer.

Questions:

Can students use a study permit that lists the as a DLI to register in courses during the first two years of the program at ? Or do they need to apply for a study permit using a Letter of Acceptance from the and apply for a new permit by applying to change conditions of their stay before they are scheduled to take courses for the last two years of the program at th

If they need to hold two study permits, which institution would be responsible for compliance reporting?

The program components at do not result in a separate credential since students obtain their credential from the upon completion of program requirements. The considers the students to be enrolled full time during that time. Would students who meet eligibility requirement be authorized to work off-campus during the first two years of the program?

We currently have previously admitted students to the program (Fall 2023 and Fall 2024 admits) who are taking first- and second-year courses at with a study permit that does not name a DLI but that was obtained with a Letter for Acceptance from the Do these students need to apply for a study permit that names as the DLI?

Thank you in advance for your reply and guidance.
